

Spices and Cereals Processing for Economic Empowerment - SACP outlets (2014)

In 2014, 12 home-based Spice and Cereal Product (SACP) outlets were set up in 9 villages in Mewat district of Haryana and 3 villages in Alwar district of Rajasthan. The home-based centres were an attempt to empower women economically by both increasing the sales of the SACP and by giving the women an opportunity to be engaged in a small enterprise. Additionally, these outlets also helped strengthen our efforts in improving nutrition in the villages we worked in as nutrition packs containing multi grain Ata, Sattu, and Chana, beneficial for pregnant women were made available in these outlets. The Community Health Workers of Sukarya managed the stock, helped selling the produce and provided counselling to pregnant women in the villages while providing them with the nutritious food.
