

Self-Reliance through Skill Training program - SHOBHA (2008)

Project Shobha was an extension of the "Saath Saath project". The objective of the project was to provide vocational training in beauty culture and personal grooming, a vocation seeing an increasing demand in the rural and peri-urban areas of Gurugram.

During the four-month long training 20 girls were provided training in village Ghata, of Gurugram. The training aimed to build confidence of the trainees and provide them with skills in a vocation with a growing local demand to ensure sufficient opportunity for them to utilize these to become economically self-reliant in life.